4.1a Canada First Research Excellence Fund Update

J. Hepburn

Open Information (10 min)

The recently announced Canada First Research Excellence Fund (CFREF) is a substantial new federal funding initiative designed to propel a limited number of research clusters to global prominence.

UBC hopes to be awarded on the order of $25M to $30M per year from this program, which will be focused on a very small number (three or four) of research areas at UBC.

There is an implicit requirement that UBC resources have to be provided to these strategically important areas as matching funds.

This program will require UBC to rethink the way strategically important research clusters are managed to maximize the chances for success.

Success in this program is vital to UBC’s research success and reputation.

<td>Policy #81 was adopted by the Board of Governors in February 2014. It was a new Policy and, with the benefit of the experience gained from its operation over the past year, a proposal has been developed for a significantly streamlined and simplified version of the Policy.</td>

The proposed amendments to the Policy continue to support the core goal of facilitating collaboration amongst UBC Scholars and the ongoing use of Teaching Materials that have been contributed for the collective use of a Department, School, or other academic unit or that have been developed as a result of material investments by UBC.
